

The blood of scores of innocent victims in the merciless Sri Lankan bombings on Easter Sunday has hardly dried and we are faced with this terrible attack by a 19-year-old boy on the last day of Passover, in a Synagogue in San Diego, California, exactly six months after the Pittsburgh massacre.

It makes one weep to see humanity plummeting, despite leaps and bounds made in Science, Technology, Medicine and so many other fields.

We have neglected nurturing healthy Souls and are paying a very high price for it.

It is way past the time we collectively examined where we are stumbling, address the causes but, more importantly, devise and implement sustainable solutions, to help stop this crazy destruction of the way of life we prize so highly.

Hate, Terror, Destruction and Violence are not the hallmarks of a Civil Society. This has to be reversed, with monumental effort, replacing negativity with all that will help enhance our world and encourage Peace to blossom globally once again.

I sincerely pray to the Almighty to make us all instruments of His Peace, sowing seeds of Love instead of Hatred in our hearts, making our world the wonderful place it was meant to be.

Please accept my deepest sympathies and condolences and prayers for healing of spirits from these painful wounds.

Loving wishes
